Market Overview & Business Strategy

Large, Fragmented Market

U.S. Collision Repair Market

- Revenue for North American collision repair industry is estimated to be approximately US$36.4 billion annually (U.S. $34.1B, CDA $2.3B)
- 32,900 shops in the U.S.
- Composition of the collision repair market in the U.S.:

Evolving Collision Repair Market

- Long-term decline of independent and dealership repair facilities
 - Total number of independent and dealership collision repair locations has declined by 23.5% from late 2007 to 2015, and 59% over the past 35 years
- Large multi-shop collision repair operator (“MSO”) market share opportunity
 - Large MSOs represented 6.4% of total locations in 2015 and 21.5% of estimated 2015 revenue (up from 9.1% in 2006) in the U.S.
 - 79 MSOs had revenues of $20 million or greater in 2015
 - The top 10 MSOs together represent 66.8% of revenue of large MSOs
 - MSOs benefit from standardized processes, integration of technology platforms and expense reduction through large-scale supply chain management

Strong Relationships with Insurance Companies through DRPs

- Direct Repair Programs (“DRPs”) are established between insurance companies and collision repair shops to better manage auto repair claims and the level of customer satisfaction
- Auto insurers utilize DRPs for a growing percentage of collision repair claims volume
- Growing preference among insurers for DRP arrangements with multi-location collision repair operators
- Boyd is well positioned to take advantage of these DRP trends with all major insurers and most regional insurers
- Boyd’s relationship with insurance customers
 - Top 5 largest customers contribute 49% of revenue
 - Largest customer contributes 15% of revenue

Impact of Collision Avoidance Systems

- CCC estimates technology will reduce accident frequency by ~20% in next 25-30 years
- As per industry studies, decline should be somewhat offset by increases in average cost of repair (increased expense of technology)
- Large operators could also mitigate market decline by continued market share gains in consolidating industry
